Saucer Shaped Mechanical Contraption Found Studied for Solution to Celestial Mystery

mechanical contraption, resembling a chicken brooder top with a few gadgets added, was found in a geranium bed at the home of Construction Engineer Russell Long last night and the first official reaction was from Fire Battalion Chief Wallace E. Newcombe who looked at it skeptically and said:

"It doesn't look to me like it could fly."

Long called the Van Nuys Fire Department and excitedly pointed to the metal saucer, 30 inches in diameter, which he said had been belching smoke from two exhaust pipes and emitting a blue-white glare. The office of Richard B. Hood, federal investigation chief here, said an FBI man had taken a look at the device office said Hood had no other comment.

Chief Newcombe exhibited the object. A radio tube on top was set down into the upper half of the saucer which was about five inches thick at the middle and tapered to a thin perimeter. There were wires leading to a plug embedded in the center of the lower half. There was a rudder-type wing on top

Long told reporters that he was awakened by a "pop," not as loud as an explosion, and that he rushed outside to find the device. He declared that the object had nudged a few bricks out of the bor-

Man Hunted for Week in Deep Tennessee Cave Turns Up Unexpectedly in New York--Big Hoax

Lynn Bomar announced today John T. Hurn, for whom a week's search had been made in Nickajack Cave at Shellmound, Tenn., had been located in New York City and that Hurn's reported disappearance in the cavern was "a hoax from beginning to end."

Bomar said Hurn never had been lost in the gloomy, bat-infested commercial cave which had been searched by the state highway patrol, the Red Cross, National Guard, Boy Scouts and scores of private parties since Hurn's brother reported his disapman, married and the father of two grown children, was investigated by police today after they questioned him for many hours in their inquiry into the death of a former actress whose nude, strangled body was found yesterday in her West 57th Street apartment.

His name was one of many found in the woman's six address books. Police said he admitted being with her Monday night and given them conflicting details.

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON, July 10-(AP)-Congress is finishing its busiest year of doing something about the presidency. It's acted to limit any president to two terms. It's acting now to make the speaker of the house make the speaker of the house president if there's no president or vice president. That's more than any other Congress has done in one year on this subject.

Jap's-Eye View

What do the Japanese people think of their conquerors? This is a question to which Keyes Beech, an American newspaper man in Tokyo, has sought an answer. Going about among all classes of Japanese, and questioning British and American residents, as well as army intelligence officers, he has collected some interesting opinions.

They respect us for our size, and efficiency, wondering why their leaders had the nerve to start a war with us. They think we take lightly and kindly our position as conquerors, not using the brutality which would have characterized their behavior in the same circumstances. They cannot comprehend our democratic ideas, though they are willing to adopt them, being instinctively obedient to authority. Those who are trained to think remark that in contrast to their ancient race, we are young as a nation, and they observe a corresponding youthfulness in the behavior of our soldiers.

Many of the traits which they assign to to us are worthy of imitation and observers tell us that some of them are being imitated by a people, who, in spite of their ancient lineage, have a parrot-like ability to pick up new ways. Our occupation of their islands, for however short a time, cannot fail to make significant changes in their way of living.

This Atomic Business

Now that we Americans have the atomic bombs and all, what are we going to do with 'em? Millions of minds, some of them very good ones, are concentrating on this problem. It is one of the biggest problems ever tackled in the world.

the New York Times, "to challenge successfully the basic points in the analysis made by the emergency committee of atomic scientists of the situation which we (and all the other peoples of the world) are up against as a result of the development of this dread new power."

Apparently atomic bombs can now be produced cheaply in large numbers, and will become more and more destructive as they proceed. There is no military defense against them, and none seems to be expected at this stage, if ever. Other nations will presumably learn to produce similar destructive processes. Atomic warfare-or peace-will rule the planet. Which it will be is now uncertain.

It would do no harm, and really might be a good idea, to spend a few Sundays thinking about this matter.

Family Court

A group of juvenile court judges, meeting in Chicago to discuss their problems, were addressed by Judge Elwood F. Melson of the Family Court of Wilmington, Delaware. Judge Melson made the statement that 85 percent of juvenile delinquents are neglected children whose parents give them no support, supervision or discipline.

The judge said that during the two years since the formation of the Family Court in his county, the number of committals to its grip on American fundamentals?

three juvenile correction institutions has been reduced 18, 20 and 25 percent respectively. He also advocates a program for families which would provide for close cooperation between home and school, common interests for parents and children and regulation of hours and spending money.

The functioning of such a court should be good not only for the child who has broken laws, but for his parents, as well. Because of adverse weather conditions in many of the growing districts, short crops of some fruits and vegetables are in prospect. This is especially true of peas, corn, tomatoes, cherries, apricots, etc.

Indications are that this year's pack of canned foods will be very ordinary from a quality standpoint.

With prospects of a short canning pack of only ordinary quality, and indications of higher prices due to short supply and increased packing costs, wise housewives are stocking their pantries NOW for next winter.

We suggest that you take full advantage of this gigantic canned foods event to lay in your winter's supply. Come in today while our stocks are complete.

Bloomingburg Eviction Case Is Up Monday

Second Action of Kind to be Heard By Mayor There

it is the second case of its kind before Justice of the Peace George Worrell here, the court found in Blackmore carried the case to the Court of Appeals, where it is by Blackmore that the defendent had refused to pay a gas bill incurred, and which, it was stated the defendent was to pay, Blackmore claimed that Streitenberger was delinquent $40 with rentals, and that he had given formal notice for Streitenberger to move, and that he had not done so.

Streitenberger countered with the claim that he had attempted to pay Blackmore and had also called by telephone. He said he was ready to pay the rent.

The case was appealed June 2. In the meantime Mrs. Clara M. Streitenberger was charged by Blackmore with breaking into his house, and she pleaded innocent to the charge, waived examination and was held to the grand jury under $100 bond.

In the second eviction action filed Blackmore claims that more rental has not been paid.

Acute Shortage Of Nudes Hits Art in Caracas

Venezuelan Girls Unwilling to Pose Without Clothes

CARACAS - An acute scarcity of women models willing to pose in the nude has created a major crisis for some Caracas artists and art schools.

No professional models organization exists in Venezuela and art schools who obtain models consider themselves lucky.

Getting a model to pose in the nude requires extraordinary persuasive powers.

"There is an incredible modesty which we cannot overcome," complained Luis Lopez Mendez, director of the Museum of Fine Arts, Victor Edmunde Monsanto, director of the School of Plastic Arts, and Artist Assocanio Ne-

IN MEMORIAM In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Golden H. Shaffer, who died in the battle of Saipan, July 10, Golden dear just three years ago, today, When we learned that you were gone Our hearts were crushed and broken And we felt so all alone.

And we let so all alone.
Golden dear our hearts are sad
And tears of sorrow flow
As time turns back its pages
To just three years ago. When the evening shades are falling And we are sitting all alone In our hearts there comes a longing If you only could come home.
Sad and sudden was the call,
Of a life linked with our own.
We loved you, oh yes, we loved you,
But our Saviour called you home.

Some where in the Mariannes In a Marine's grave Lies our dear son and brother, among the brave.

He never shunned his Country's call,
But gladly gave his life for all.
He died the helpless to defend,
A faithful Marine's noble end.

Golden dear, you'll never be forgotten Though in the grave you asleep; So long is life shall last dear, So long is life shall last dear,
Your memory we shall keep.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness
Our eyes shed many a tear;
Thoughts of you cling around us,
As end's this sad third year.
Mother, Father, and his family
Written by his Mother.

Through miles of pipe lines, over mountains, under rivers, Natural Gas, the "Magic Flame," comes to your home to broil your chops, bake your pies, and cook your meals.

Thousands of trained engineers, inspectors and other skilled workers man the compressor stations, guard the gas lines against leaks and spend their working hours seeing that the "Magic Flame" is ready to serve you at the turn of a little gas-cock handle on your range.

When you consider the long distance Natural Gas must travel before delivery to your home through the vast network of local gas mains, the low price at which this "Magic Flame" serves you is remarkable.
